[REDACTED]

Dear Mr. [REDACTED]

This is in response to your recent correspondence that was forwarded to the Administrative Office of the United States Courts from the United States Supreme Court expressing concerns regarding a complaint under the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act, 28 U.S.C. §§ 351-64, and the Rules for Judicial-Conduct and Judicial-Disability Proceedings. Please be advised that this agency cannot provide the assistance you have requested.

The Administrative Office has centralized responsibility for the support of federal court operations, including the provision of resources and services to all of the federal courts and the handling of internal housekeeping duties necessary to their efficient functioning. The Administrative Office has no judicial authority to address a court on a party's behalf or to ask the court to take any action on a judicial matter. This agency likewise cannot address the court on behalf of a private litigant. See 28 U.S.C. § 607. Any action that you want a court to take on your behalf must be requested in a timely and proper manner by you or an attorney who is representing you.

I regret to inform you that the Judicial Conference of the United States, the Committee on Judicial Conduct and Disability and the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, cannot be of further assistance to you in this matter.
